ESTABLISHED 1833. WEDNESDAY, JAN. 20, 1892. PRICE TWO CENTS

You Know The Reason.

We have told you so often the cause which forced our Great Reduction Sale, that it is unnecessary to repeat it now. Let us however remind you that the Sale is still going on with Renewed Vigor. And we are pushing down prices with a determination which renders competition in Dress goods impossible.

GEO. DeWALD & CO.

ACQUITTED.

Thomas Hutton, Who Defends His Wife's Good Name, is Not a Murderer.

NEVADA, Mo., Jan. 20.—The jury in the case of Thomas S. Hutton, charged with murder in the first degree, was concluded last evening after a trial lasting several days. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. Hutton shot and killed C. C. Deffenbaugh in this city on September 27 last. Deffenbaugh had pursued Hutton's wife with his attentions in such a manner as to compromise her good name.

THE ATLANTIC EXPRESS

Dashes Into a Freight Train at Yonkers.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The Atlantic express on the New York Central and Hudson river railroad ran into a freight train between Yonkers and Glenwood this morning. Nobody was hurt. Both trains were south bound. The freight had stopped near Glenwood to take a siding and let the express go by. The switching was not done quickly enough, it appears, and the express ran into the freight train, smashing two freight cars to pieces. After the wrecking had been cleared away, the express continued on its way to New York.

MONROEVILLE NEWS.

A Gossipy Letter From Our Correspondent at That Place.

MONROEVILLE, Jan. 19, 1892.

The grip is making itself felt in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Congleton have resigned their positions at the Feeble Minded school.

Louis Pevert, who has just completed a tour of the western states, is here visiting relatives.

The two-year-old child of Perry Howard was buried Sunday.

Hon. J. Chalmer, the editor of the Hoosier Tidings, is booked for a lecture Thursday evening at the Pleasant Valley school.

The Grangers are preparing to have a basket dinner in their hall at this place Wednesday, to which they invite all farmers to join. Grand Master Aaron Jones, of South Bend, is expected to deliver an address on "Grangerism."

James and Alfred Steel, of Decatur, were in town Sunday.

Wm. Howel moved his family to Clarksville, Howard county, Ohio, last Monday.

Two youths from this place nearly run a livery horse to death the other night while on their way home from Decatur. The law should be dealt to them accordingly.

James Roy will discontinue his saloon business and remove with his family to his farm north of town.

The gas question is as dead as might be expected under the present circumstances. Well No. 3 will be put down on A. S. Robertson's farm, south of town.

A literary and debating society has been organized at the Redelsheimer school north of town, and they entertained a good audience last Friday evening. Why not organize an association of this kind in town? It would be beneficial to the young and interesting to the old. Glancy's rink is offered to such an organization.

Rev. J. M. Hains is conducting a revival meeting at the M. E. church, while Rev. Bowen, of the Lutheran church, is holding a revival at Maxwillon.

Trustee Franke, of Madison township, announced his third teachers' institute to take place next Saturday, at the Pleasant Valley school, two miles west of Monroeville. A splendid program has been arranged for the occasion and a good time is anticipated.

Mr. C. Dickerson, of Rutland, Vt., is here soliciting stock preparatory to organizing a creamery and cheese company at this point. So far, he has received much encouragement and the probabilities are that a mammoth building will be erected here next spring for the manufacture of butter and cheese. The plant will cost $4,500.

WARLIKE MOVEMENTS.

The Senate Discussing a Bill for Coast Defense—Secretary Elkins Says the Situation is Serious.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Appropos to the Chilian situation a bill introduced in the senate today by Mr. Hawley, chairman of the committee on military affairs, is of interest. It provides for the appropriation of $100,000 to be expended under the direction of the secretary of war for the procurement of necessary sites for defenses for the eastern entrance to the Long Island sound.

Secretary Elkins is reported, in an interview, to have said that the Chilian situation is very serious, and that war must come unless Chili makes ample reparation. The whole matter, he said, is in the hands of the president and Secretaries Blaine and Tracy. The cabinet is in full accord with them, and whatever they decide upon will meet with the approval of the other members of the cabinet.

The house galleries were filled this morning in expectation of the presentation of the Chilian correspondence, but the spectators were disappointed. Mr. Blount asked consent to have the memorial of Clara Barton, president of the Red Cross, on the subject of Russian starvation printed in the Record, but Mr. Snodgrass objected. A resolution offered by Mr. Stone, of Kentucky, asking for statistics of trade with San Domingo and Porto Rico was agreed to. Bills were introduced and referred by Mr. Dolliver, of Louisiana, for the relief of the settlers on the Des Moines river lands, by Mr. Durburrow, of Illinois, repealing the law authorizing the secretary of the treasury to lease a government pier in Chicago. A resolution on the library committee was adopted filling the vacancies in the regents of the Smithsonian institution by appointing William P. Johnson, of Louisiana, vice Noah Porter, deceased; J. B. Henderson, of Washington, vice M. C. Meigs, deceased, and Henry Coppee, of Pennsylvania, reappointed. Mr. Springer introduced his bill for free wool and reduced duties on woolen goods. Referred to the ways and means committee. At 12:50 the house adjourned until tomorrow.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Evening News this afternoon chaffs at what it refers to as the "bellicose wrath" of President Harrison, and says that it is dissolving in the face of Chili's conciliatory message. The News also says that the statement that Great Britain has offered to mediate between Chili and the United States in order to avoid a war between these two countries was lightly made in the United States on newspapers foundation only. The St. James Gazette sneers at what it calls "alarms and bounce rumors," and remarks that it would be dangerous for the Chilians to concede much to the Yankee diplomats who cannot understand that politeness is more reasonable when Chilians are threatened.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—A special from Washington gives an interview had by its correspondent with Senator Hale, a close friend of Secretary Blaine and a member of the senate committee on naval affairs. Mr. Hale said that he did not expect war with Chili. He thought that there would be proper recognition on the part of Chili of her fate; that the affair would be properly adjusted, and that apology and retraction would be made by her. He thought that the present government of Chili was embarrassed by the popular sentiment down there against the United States, which makes the task of the Chilian government very difficult. Continuing, Senator Hale said:

"If the Chilian government is coerced by public sentiment into hostile acts it leaves us but one course, and that course is war. Fortunately we are in a condition of preparation entirely different from what our condition was a few years ago. We have got at least fourteen formidable ships that can be concentrated in Chilian waters and we have got 114 guns against thirty-six of the entire Chilian navy. There is no reason to believe that in the end the issue would be doubtful.

"If it comes to war," he added, "it should be prosecuted with the utmost vigor, and, of course, but one result can follow. That is the crushing defeat of Chili, the entire annihilation of her navy, and the indemnification of the United States for all our expenses of the valuable property in the control of the Chilian government. Peru would form an alliance with us and Chili would take a very secondary place in the South American continent." The senator in conclusion said that in half a dozen years from now we would have, not the largest and most expensive navy in the world, but the best cruising ships, the best light draft smaller ships, and the best war ships in the world without the expenditure of one-fifth of the money that European powers have expended on their navies."

VALPARAISO, Jan. 20.—The United States gunboat Yorktown sailed last night for Callao, Peru, with Balmacedist refugees. The latest received from the steamer John Elder is that she is a total loss. The passengers and crew were saved by the ship's own boat, and are now in Constitution. The story cabled to the London Times by its correspondent here that the refugees from the American legation were aboard the Elder is absolutely false. The British warship Melpomena and the Chilian steamers Esmeralda, Mendoza and Ozama have gone to the assistance of the wrecked vessel.

A MURDEROUS PLOT.

A Member of Wood's Revenging Gang Makes a Confession of a Horrible Conspiracy.

TOPEKA, KAS., Jan. 20.—The suspicion that there was an organized conspiracy to kill Judge Botkin, Fitzer, an attorney, Sheriff Dunn and two or three other persons in south Kansas, has been fully substantiated. There are three men, residing in adjoining counties, who have furnished the information and whose forecasts have always been correct. While they are not ready at this time to reveal the full enormity of this criminal organization, they have detailed enough of its operations to show that three separate oaths bind the members to obey the order of the inner councils, even though these orders involve the taking of life. The members swear to obey these orders without question, even though they may be commanded to take the life of their dearest relative. In the counties of Haskell, Grant, Stevens and Seward there are sixty-five members, all of whose names have been furnished Judge Botkin. These men are taken only from the alliance, and even then the utmost care is taken in the selection of proper material. The meetings are held at Springfield and Woodsdale where three degrees are taken. The first degree binds the members to stand by each other at the risk of life if necessary. The applicant is pledged under the penalty of having his residence burned, and his stock and crops destroyed, never to reveal ought that may come to his knowledge concerning the actions of any member. When taking the second degree he swears to join any member or members in the protection of their rights and in resenting any personal affront or injury. If he fails in responding when called upon or reveals any contemplated action on the part of a fellow member, his life may be declared forfeited by the action of the council to which he belongs. In taking the final degree he places himself at the disposal of the inner council in life and death. He swears to faithfully execute any orders issued by the council. He is given to understand that the secret order of justice was directed against the enemies of one or all of the organization.

LOVED HIS NIECE.

Strange Infatuation of Relatives Which May End in Marriage.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—There is much gossip in Catholic circles here over the application of Sidney Boyle, a wealthy young merchant living at San Raphael, for papal dispensation to marry his niece. Boyle and his elder brother quarreled several years ago, but recently made up the trouble and divided a large inheritance from their father, who was a wholesale importer of woolens. Recently the brother died and Sidney was made executor. A part of the estate was left to his widow and her daughter. Sidney saw much of the latter, who is a girl of twenty years, and the result was they fell in love. Being good Catholics their only hope of getting the marriage sanctioned was to apply to the pope, which they have just done.

BASE BALL.

The Western League of Ball Players to be Organized.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Before the sun sets tomorrow night the Western league of professional base ball players will have been organized. A meeting to elect officers and finally perfect the league will be held at the auditorium tomorrow. It will be made up of Kansas City, Omaha, St. Paul, and Minneapolis in the west, and Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Columbus and Toledo in the east. Every town is regarded certain except Toledo and several cities are anxious to take its place. J. W. Speas, of Kansas City, is slated for president, and Jimmie Williams, of Columbus, for secretary.

A RICE TRUST.

Northern Parties in the South to Form One.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 20.—E. V. Douglass, and others representing parties in New York and Chicago, are in the city for the purpose of purchasing the rice mills, some fourteen in number, and forming a rice trust. They have had conferences with the millers and it is generally believed that the majority are willing to sell, the only point at issue being the price. The deal involves about one million dollars.

The Jury's Verdict.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—After an inquiry covering seven days into the cause of the boiler explosion in the big Springer building, by which five men lost their lives, the coroner's jury brought in a verdict last night fixing the responsibility for the disaster on Warren Springer, owner of the building, and four of his employes. Coroner Hertz at once issued capiases for the five men, and before midnight they had all been lodged in jail.

Bicycle Race.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Three riders broke the world's best two-day record in a six-day bicycle race last night. The best previous record was 291 miles, made at Boston last December. At the close of yesterday's racing Ashinger had covered 294 miles, eight laps; Stage, 291 miles, eight laps, and Lamb 261 miles. Wood, Schock, O'Flannagan and Robb are now practically out of the race.

The Sons of Columbus will have an, other of their pleasant receptions on the 25th inst, and the Daughters of Isabella give a musicale on the 27th.

ENGLAND WEEPS

Over Her Loved Son as His Remains are Tenderly Conveyed to Their Last Resting Place.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The funeral of Prince Albert Victor of Wales, duke of Clarence and Avondale, eldest son of the prince of Wales and heir presumptive to the throne of England, who died at Sandringham hall on Thursday last, took place today. The funeral ceremonies were commenced in Sandringham Parish church, where the body has been lying in state since Saturday last, upon a bed of violets and lilies, in a plain but handsome oak coffin made from wood cut near the spot where the young prince died and fashioned in the neighboring village. The religious services in Sandringham church were confined to members of the royal family and to the household of the prince of Wales. The prince and princess of Wales and her daughters, the Princess Louise, (duchess of Fife,) the Princess Victoria and the Princess Maude, were present. Prince George of Wales, the heir presumptive, looking quite delicate and the poor little widowed bride, Princess Victoria Mary of Teck, otherwise and more generally known as Princess May, also attended the services in the little church at Sandringham and attracted much attention. People shook their heads gravely when they noticed the traces which sickness had left upon the face of the "sailor prince," and many were the words of sympathy uttered for Princess May, whose pretty face plainly showed signs of much weeping and deep-felt sorrow at the loss of her betrothed. The Princess of Wales today, and in fact, since the hour of the prince's death has watched over and consoled Princess May like a mother cheering a well loved child, forgetful of her own sorrow in the desire to relieve that of the grief stricken betrothed of her son. After the prayers of the dead had been read by the Rev. Fred. A. Shervey, M. A., domestic chaplain to the prince of Wales, the services were concluded with the reading of the Psalms and with singing one hymn most significant to all persons present. The hymn was "Thy Will be Done." The mourners during the singing of this hymn, the music being beautifully and softly rendered from the organ, were weeping quietly as they struggled to repress the emotion caused by the touching words. At the conclusion of the ceremonies at Sandringham, the coffin was conveyed to Wolverton station, where a special train was in waiting to convey the body to Windsor. The route from Sandringham church to Wolverton depot was lined with crowds of people from the neighborhood and from London, the male portion of this concourse respectfully raising their hats as the body passed. It would be difficult to imagine a more simple funeral service in connection with royalty than that witnessed at Sandringham this morning. The road to the station was lined, not by troops or police, but by the school children of the neighborhood, who wore large black crape rosettes upon their arms, and who presented a most neat and attractive appearance in spite of the badge of mourning they carried. The body was taken to the station upon a gun carriage, like that of any officer of the army, and the prince of Wales, accompanied by the dukes of Fife, walked the whole distance, two miles, between the little church and the railroad depot, directly behind the coffin. The other mourners followed the funeral cortege in carriages. As the body passed on its way to the station, the school children, tenants, servants and villagers fell into line behind it and accompanied the remains to the spot where they were embarked on the train. The funeral cars passed the outskirts of London at 2 p. m., the request for privacy made by the royal family being everywhere respected in the most praiseworthy degree.

While the train was conveying the body of the duke to Windsor, minute guns were fired from the war ships and forts throughout Great Britain and Ireland, the constant booming announcing far and wide that the remains of the unfortunate young prince were on the way to their last resting place. In many cases, while this stage of the funeral was in progress, special services for the dead were held and words of sympathy with the royal family were uttered from many pulpits. In addition to the firing of guns from so many places, the bells from nearly every church steeple in England were tolled during the whole time the body was on its way to Windsor. The train bearing the body and the mourners slowly drew away from the depot and en route for Windsor was the object of much respectful interest. In this city the stores are nearly all partly closed, that is to say, these having the old fashioned wooden shutters have half of them up and those having the steel "blind" shutters have them drawn half down. All the cab men and bus drivers have bows of black crape upon their whips and the majority of the male portion of the population seen on the streets wear crape bands, military fashion, on their left arms. Every flag is at half mast, and a number of them are draped with crape, or have crape streamers floating above them. Many business houses have closed for the day and the fashionable west end stores followed their example at noon. In the neighborhood of Windsor, the scene presented was a most gloomy one. The sky was overcast and threatening snow or rain, while the atmosphere had that damp, chilly feeling so peculiar to the country in winter time. All the houses in or near Windsor were draped with crape or black cloth and not a store was opened throughout the day. From the moment it was telegraphed to Windsor that the funeral ceremonies had commenced at Sandringham, the church bells of Windsor began to toll and kept up their doleful ringing until the last rites had been performed. Thousands upon thousands of people went from London and elsewhere to Windsor in order to pay a last tribute of respect to the dead, or if only moved by curiosity, in order to see as much as possible of the funeral ceremonies. The main thoroughfares were kept clear by a strong force of troops, and the police, who had no difficulty in maintaining the most perfect order. A special train carried the leading members of the government to Windsor.

The funeral train arrived at Windsor at 2:55 p. m., and was received with much ceremony at the flower decorated railroad station. The streets by that time were packed with somber clad people wedged in behind the troops and police who lined the route to the castle. As the coffin was taken out of the train and placed upon the gun carriage in waiting, a combined military band played "The Dead March," and the procession started towards St. George's chapel. The gun carriage bearing the remains was escorted by a detachment of the Tenth Hussars, prince of Wales' own, the regiment in which the dead prince held the rank of major. The coffin was covered with the Union Jack, and upon it was placed the busby of the late duke, together with his sword and sash. The dead man's charger, covered with sable trappings, was led behind the gun carriage. In the stirrups were the dead man's military riding boots, toes turned backward. The remains were preceded by a number of the members of the royal family. Following the body were all the personal attendants of the dead prince and the household of the prince of Wales. The latter, as colonel of the Tenth Hussars, with the officers of that regiment, were the pall bearers. While the funeral services were being conducted at Windsor, memorial services were held in St. Paul's cathedral, Westminster Abbey and at the Chapel Royal. The Bishop of London officiated at St. Paul's.

A SEALER'S STORY.

Captured by Russians and Compelled to Work on Starvation Fare—Crazed With Hunger He Kills a Comrade.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., 20.—Charles Wilson, mate of the sealing schooner, George R. White, tells a tale of suffering in Siberia. For the past three years this schooner had been sealing off the coast of Alaska and Siberia. On a trip in the spring of 1890 the schooner put into Russian waters and barely escaped arrest. Another American sealer at the time was captured by the Russian authorities, says Wilson, and the crew were compelled to work in the coal mines. Captain Alex McLean of the schooner Eddie D. Webster, of San Francisco, was arrested, but it is not known whether these men belonged to his or another vessel. Two of the crew of Americans, names unknown, incurred the displeasure of the officials because of a disposition to shirk work. They were chained together with iron bands around their waists and a large iron ball at the end of the chain. One man was very large and the other below the medium height. They were kept underground, and had to dig a certain amount of coal each day or no food would be sent down to them. The supply got short, and the big man ate his companion's food for five days. The small man became frantic with hunger and murdered the greedy prisoner while he slept. He called to the guard at the mouth of the shaft and told him he had killed his companion and asked to be loosened from the dead man. The guard refused. In desperation the small man took a coal shovel and cut the dead man in two and loosened the band from his waist. Neither was seen again. The supposition is that the murderer was killed by a guard or starved to death. The story is told by a prisoner who worked in the mines where the tragedy occurred. Many arrests are reported of poaching sealers by the Russian authorities and many prisoners never leave the mines alive.

WAITING FOR SPRING.

Garza Says He Will Then Overthrow the Tyrannical Diaz.

LAREDO, TEXAS, Jan. 20.—A correspondent has had an interview with one of Garza's chief lieutenants. The officer indignantly denied the report that they were bandits, and said they paid for everything they used. Garza, he said, represented a principle. He was a patriot, and was determined to overthrow the tyranical yoke of Diaz. Garza, he said, had over 1,500 followers on this side of the river. All the people are with him, he added, and half the army. Garza was not yet ready to strike the final blow, but would do so in six or eight weeks or not until the grass sprouts, so they might have forage for their horses and men. The lieutenant concluded that they had a rich and powerful backing, and that when they were ready to enter the field their forces would be commanded by one of the most popular and capable men in Mexico. Garza had no eye to the leadership himself, nor did he expect to succeed Diaz when that tyrant was overthrown.

Edith Shows Up.

LOWELL, MASS., Jan. 20.—The actress, Edith Pollock, who disappeared night before last has returned. No explanation of her mysterious conduct is given.

VERY QUIET TODAY

In the Different Courts of the City—Gray Wins His Case—Slim Dockets and Silent 'Squires.

The Rodemeyer case in the superior court will probably go to the jury tomorrow.

The case of John H. Bessing against the city for the opening of High street has been appealed to the superior court.

John Laughlin and Mary M. Yobst, Harry Beverly and Mamie Burdage, Henry Dohrman and Lizzie Speckman, William O. Wake and Martha A. Smith have been licensed to wed.

The jury in the Gray case in the circuit court were out all night last night. Rudolf Fahlsing was up with them and says the box pressure on the natural gas line in the court house came very near freezing all of them.

Bernard Post was fined by Justice Ryan for selling liquor on the Sabbath.

Chas. Rosenberger was in Justice Wilkinson's court charged with Sabbath desecration. He keeps a saloon on Lafayette street.

Judge Chapin went to Plymouth this morning to attend to a case in the courts there.

In the circuit court the jury in the case of the Peninsular Stove company vs. Joseph P. Gray, retired at 3:45 yesterday afternoon. The verdict was read in court this morning and was for the defendant, Gray.

The Deddrick manslaughter case at Plymouth is drawing to a close. The witnesses for the defense returned to the city last evening and the case is expected to go to the jury today. Judge Zollars and Judge Hess are counsel for Mr. Deddrick. The following Fort Wayne people were in attendance at the trial yesterday: J. M. C. Baker, Fred Hoham and Louis Metz.

Two drunks were slated for police court this morning. Charles Clancey was found staggering on Broadway by Policeman Romy, who dropped him a hint to go home. Clancey couldn't see it that way, so he fell into Horstmeyer's saloon and went to sleep. His presence became offensive to the proprietor, who, not wishing to put him out in the cold for fear he would not be able to take care of himself, had the policeman gather him in. Clancey is now in jail. The other case was Charles Edwards, who was taken in by Policeman Dasseler. Edwards was a pronounced case of "lumber" drunk, being so completely intoxicated when the officer found him asleep on the Swinney block stairway that he did not know his own name. He is keeping Clancey company at the jail.

IT WAS JOLLY.

A Bus Sleigh Conveys a Merry Party to a Country Residence.

Last evening a large party of young people went out to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Furthmiller, one mile east of New Haven, where the greater portion of the night was spent in a very pleasant manner to all. During the evening a supper consisting of oysters and other luxuries was served. Amusing games of all kinds were indulged in until 4 o'clock this morning, when the jolly guests left for their homes. The night was bitter cold, but the ride to and from the country was none the less pleasant for all that. In the party were the Misses Carrie and Lottie Cramer, Rose Schwarts, Jessie Barnes, Maud Amen, Sophia Koop, Ella Koons, Maggie Michaels, Anna Bothner, Bertha and Emma Hall, Cora Ludington, Tella Nandoum, Mesdames Mollie Brush, Mattie Hollurn, Furthmiller and Chalot, and the Messrs. Henry Taylor, Fred Schnebler, Henry Meyer, James Dormer, Peter Kutner, James Houlihan, Michael Gilmartin, James Ludington, Benjamin Methney, William Niebergall and F. Furthmiller. The party started from the residence of Mrs. Brush, 150 Clinton street, and all were stored into one immense sleigh belonging to Henry Meyers.

TO FIGHT INDIANA COMPANIES.

Chicago Pipe Line People Control More Gas Territory than Their Enemies.

KOKOMO, Ind., Jan. 20.—The city council, in session Monday night, passed an ordinance granting a franchise to the Indiana Natural Gas company, popularly known as the Chicago Pipe line company, the projectors of the scheme to pipe natural gas to Chicago from the Indiana fields. The company, harrassed and delayed by the actions of the legislature and the courts in attempting to prevent the piping of gas from the state, and being unable to realize any returns from a nominal investment of $8,000,000 decided to turn its mains into Kokomo and supply the private consumers and factories of this city. The Chicago project is by no means abandoned, and with the abundant supply of gas at its command, the company, after furnishing Chicago with all the fluid that can be forced through two ten-inch mains, will have enough left to supply Kokomo and a half dozen other places along the way. The company controls 250 wells now in the heart of the Indiana belt, owning more producing territory than all other Indiana companies combined. Kokomo will now have competing companies and it is expected that a rate war will result, of which the consumer will get the benefit.

A CASE OF CONTEMPT.

Three New York Senators Suspended for Refusing to Vote.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 20.—The judiciary committee of the senate this morning reported in the contempt cases a resolution of censure and ordering one suspension of the three republican senators, Erwin, Saxton and O'Conner, until tomorrow morning. Senator Mullin dissented. The three senators named refused to vote on the enumeration bill when it was under discussion a few days ago.

LOST THE SUIT.

The Great Northwestern Telegraph Company Has to Pay Damages.

MONTREAL, Jan. 20.—The court of appeals yesterday gave its opinion of the contract which telegraph companies have printed on the blanks which they furnish. The case on hand was that of Laurence vs. the Great Northwestern company. While Mr. Lionel Laurence was in New York one of his employes sent him a dispatch saying: "Writing you tonight." The sentence was made to read "Waiting you tonight." Consequently Mr. Laurence made an unnecessary trip from New York to Montreal and sued the telegraph company for $500 damages. The court in the first instance awarded $40, the actual cost of the trip from New York. The company appealed from this decision. The proof established the fact that the error was due to the negligence of the employes of the company, but the appellant set up the plea that it would not be liable for damages resulting from errors unless the dispatch was repeated, and then only to the amount of fifty times the price paid for the message. Such a contract the court declared to be contrary to public policy, and any contract by which a party sought to fix the punishment for his faults was illegal. The judgment was confirmed.

TRIAL POSTPONED.

The Defense in the Quay Libel Suit Secures More Time.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 20.—Judges Kennedy and Porter occupied the bench at the opening of the criminal court this morning. Senator Quay's criminal libel suit against A. J. Barr and James Mills, of the Pittsburg Post, was to be called. The court room was thronged. Senator Quay and his witnesses did not make their appearance at the court house, remaining at their hotel. Messrs. Barr and Mills were present in court as courageous and serene as could be desired. It was about 10 o'clock when District Attorney Burleigh called the name of A. J. Barr. The defendant came forward and was sworn. Through his counsel, Mr. Ferguson, he submitted an affidavit to the effect that Charles S. Volume, an important witness to the trial of the defense, was absent. Attorney Ferguson then addressed the court, asking for a postponement for a brief period, so that the absent witness could be found. Besides this, the senior counsel for the defense, Mr. Watson, was yesterday cited to attend an argument in the supreme court on Friday. Counsel for the prosecution opposed the motion for a postponement. After a brief consultation the judges gave their counsel until 1 o'clock this afternoon to agree upon a day and date for the trial to proceed.

PERISH IN THE FLAMES.

A Mother and Her Babe Burned to Death.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Frederick Oleson and her two-year-old babe, Frederick, were burned to death last night in the fire which destroyed their home. Their three-year-old boy was also burned so terribly that it is thought he will die. About 6:15 o'clock August Meyer, the nearest neighbor, discovered the Oleson house to be in flames, and having seen Oleson leave his home shortly before, for his work, hurried over to rescue the family. This he managed, with the greatest exertion and risk, to do, but not until the woman and children had received fatal burns and he himself had received serious but not fatal injuries.

MONROE DEPOT, Mich., Jan. 20.—St. John's Catholic church was discovered to be on fire last evening and in an hour it was a mass of ruins. The building was erected twenty years ago and cost $40,000, insurance was $10,000. Fire was caused by an overheated furnace.

THE ELLIOTT CASE.

The Ohio Murderer Will Not Get a New Trial.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 20.—The supreme court yesterday overruled the motion for a new trial for W. J. Elliott, the murderer now serving a life sentence in the Ohio state prison. Elliott is the editor who last March killed, with his brother's help, A. C. Osborn and W. L. Hughes on the streets of Columbus. This removes his last hope of escaping the terrible punishment, and he was unable to conceal the depressing effect the news of the decision had upon him. Two of the five judges, Marshall and Bradbury, dissented for the reason that the defendant was not tried by an impartial jury within the meaning of the constitution of the state and that the court erred in not allowing the motion of the defendant for a change of venue.

Conductor M. C. Estry and wife are entertaining at their pleasant home, 132 Broadway, Dr. S. B. Collett and wife, of Van Wert, who will be their guests about ten days. Mrs. Collett is the mother of Mr. Estry, and last Sunday he and his estimable wife hospitably entertained at a reunion given in their guest's honor, among those present being V. S. Estry, a brother of Celina, Ohio, E. T. Estry and family, City and Miss Nellie Estry.

Mr. S. W. Albrecht, employed by the Simmons Hardware Co., St. Louis, is in the city to attend the funeral of his father.

TOLEDO, Jan. 20.—Close—Wheat, cash, 1.00; May, 27; July, 92c. Corn, cash, 42; May, 42c. Oats nominal. Cloverseed, cash, $5.00; Feb., March, $5.05.

FROZE BOTH FEET.

Clarence Nulf Meets With a Serious Misfortune—Fire Laddies Hands Frozen.

At noon today Clarence Nulf, a brakeman on the Fort Wayne road was brought home from Lima, Ohio, where he was placed under the care of physicians last night, suffering with frozen feet, both members having been badly frozen from exposure. The man was taken to the hospital. Mr. Nulf resides at 110 Thomas street. The company surgeon attends him.

The fun made by the fire department to Maumee avenue this morning was very severe on members of the fire department. Jack Hoover, extra driver, who was handling the lines over the horses hitched to the hose wagon for John Carl, the regular man, had both hands badly frozen. Louis Stoup, driver of the chemical engine, also had both hands frozen, and William Miller, a minute man carries his left hand in a sling, the member being badly frozen.

LIFE FADES IN FLIGHT.

Sad Death of the Child of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Walton—Other Deaths.

Little Charlie, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Walton, of 43 Breckenridge street, died at 6 o'clock this morning, of scarlet fever. Age, 1 year and 10 months. The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from the residence and will be private. The 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walton is also down with the disease, but it is thought the critical stage is past in her case. The parents have much sympathy in their bereavement. Rev. Beggs will officiate.

The funeral of M. L. Albrecht will take place Thursday at 2 p. m. from the house, and at 2:30 p. m. from St. Paul's Lutheran church, Rev. Sauer officiating.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Kress will be held Friday at 9 a. m. from the house on West DeWald street, and at 9:30 from St. Paul's Catholic church.

The funeral of Mrs. Gertrude Schaaum will take place Friday morning at 9 a. m. from St. Peter's Catholic church.

The funeral of Charles Allgeier will take place Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's Catholic church.

Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Miller, of 13 Howell street, in Rockhill's addition, died this morning of bronchitis. The funeral will be Thursday at 2 p. m. from the house, Rev. Northrop officiating.

BELOW ZERO.

The Mercury in New York Drops Out of Sight.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Jan. 20.—The mercury here at 7 o'clock this morning registed 20° below zero.

NYACK, N. Y., Jan. 20.—In Rockland county this morning the mercury is at zero. The Hudson river here, which is nearly three and a half miles wide, is almost entirely covered with a thick coating of ice.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Jan. 20.—At Paul Smith's the mercury is 31° below; Saranac lake, 36° below, Lake Placid, 39° below. A telegram from Tupper's lake, on Webb's new railroad, says the thermometer at daylight registered 33° below, and men camping out had to remain awake and moving all last night to keep from freezing to death. The labor camps are short of wood. Nearly all of the laborers are Italians and southern negroes, and much suffering is anticipated if the weather does not change soon.

WERE DETERMINED TO WED.

Trials of Two Lovers From the Classic Banks of the Wabash.

WABASH, Ind., Jan. 20.—Last Saturday Henry Baughman, of the south side, procured a license to wed Lora Fadley, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Jacob Fadley, but her parent, who opposed the match, hearing of the prospective marriage, followed up the young couple and notified the justices to take up the license if it was presented and refuse to perform the ceremony. An hour later the young couple called on Justice William Russell who captured the official paper and returned it to the county clerk, an no wise discouraged by the obstacles which the stern parent placed in their way, Baughman and Miss Fadley went to a small town just over the Michigan line, where they were united, returning to receive the customary blessing last night.

IN EXCELLENT HEALTH.

The Pope Recovers From His Recent Indisposition.

ROME, Jan. 20.—The pope had a good night's sleep. His indisposition, which was of the slightest, has nearly disappeared, and he is attending to official duties today as usual. Needless alarm has been created by exaggerated reports of his illness. Considering his advanced age the holy father has been in better health this year than usual.

HANDY WITH THE SWORD.

A Republican Gets a Gash From a Boulangist.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—M. Delpho, a Republican who boxed the ears of M. Castle in a Boulangist during the scrimmage in the chamber of deputies yesterday was instantly challenged. The fight came off with swords this morning. M. Delpho was wounded in the arm. M. Castelino was not hurt.

Governor Boies.

DES MOINES, IA., Jan. 20.—The inauguration of Horace Boies as Governor of Iowa took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the hall of the house of representatives in the presence of a large and distinguished gathering. The inauguration ceremonies were extremely simple and devoid of display.

The thermometer took a tumble last night and gave us the coldest weather of the season. We are having a good dose of genuine winter.

Hon. A. P. Gorman was today selected United States senator by the legislature of Maryland. Senator Gorman is frequently spoken of as a presidential candidate.

George B. Fleming, formerly of this city, has been appointed chief of the clerk's document room in the government department at Washington at a salary of $1,600 a year.

In Indiana winter wheat is generally in good condition. About 10 per cent. of the counties report the condition as a full average, 10 per cent give the condition as good, 25 per cent report fair, and the rest report the outlook as bad.

Monsignor Kirby, the pope's secretary, replying to questions on the subject, has written a letter from Rome to the effect that the pontiff's health is excellent, in spite of the assertions to the contrary. Monsignor Kirby adds that his holiness takes deep interest in the state of Ireland and everything concerning the spiritual and temporal happiness of the Irish people.

The man whose lust for liquor is conquered by bi chloride of gold still has need of the Divine law and human morality if he would have permanent immunity from the curse of drunkenness. He must use his judgment and his will avoid temptation and resist evil influences, or the physical condition which breeds the fatal appetite may be asserted. It is the function of the remedy to give a man a chance to reform, to make it physically possible. To extend a like means of salvation to victims of other evil habits is a work grand enough to satisfy the ambition of any man.

The possibility of a war with Chili continues to be the talk in Washington. The United States wants no war, even with such a small nation as Chili. We have had enough of wars during the present century, and the administration, instead of helping to fan this war cloud into a flame, ought to bend all its energies to arbitrating our differences with Chili. If, however, war should be a necessity, and does come, the people, without distinction of party, will stand by the American government. The administration ought not to bluster with little Chili, even if in doing so somebody's presidential chances are boomed.

The collections of internal revenue of the government for the first six months of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1891, were $73,121,900, being a increase of $1,427,847 as compared with the collections for the corresponding period of last year. The receipts were as follows: Spirits, $45,002,467, an increase of $2,985,007; tobacco, $15,571,850, a decrease of $266,407; fermented liquor, $15,292,258, an increase of $583,219; oleomargarine, $7,585, an increase of $270,861; miscellaneous, $24,718, a decrease of $25,903. The receipts for December, 1891, were $3,112 less than the receipts for December, 1890.

In a telegram from Washington to the Chicago Inter Ocean we find the following concerning C. W. Aldrich, formerly of this city, whom President Harrison has decided to appoint solicitor general of the United States: "Senator Cullom has notified the attorney general that he has no objection to the appointment of C. W. Aldrich, of Chicago, as solicitor general. 'The attorney general called on me at my house,' said Senator Cullom, 'and informed me that he had been looking thoroughly for a solicitor general, but did not find one who seemed to possess the qualifications that Aldrich did, and asked if there would be objection to his appointment. I told the attorney general that I should make no objection to Mr. Aldrich, and should certainly not try to prevent any Illinois man from getting an office, but that I could not claim Aldrich by right of discovery. I understood that Aldrich and the attorney general studied or practiced law together in Indiana or knew each other then, and that the attorney general desired to have him appointed. I think that there is where the appointment originated.' There is no doubt that Aldrich will be confirmed if appointed but he will not be appointed until after the confirmation of Taft as judge."

The democrats of the Fourth and Fifth wards met last night at Schroeder's hall for the purpose of organizing a democratic club. Hon. M. V. B. Spencer was chosen chairman and Louis S. C. Schroeder secretary and the following appointed to select candidates for officers of the organization: C. A. Zollinger, Charles Buck and Frank Brucker of the Fifth ward and Phil Lindlay, Dr. S. C. Metcalf and Eugene Smith of the Fourth ward. C. A. Zollinger, R. L. Romy, F. Warrenburg, Otto Nichter and W. P. Knodt were appointed by the chairman to wait upon Judge Allen Zollars to be present and deliver an address at the next meeting of the club. A call for the next meeting, Tuesday, February 2, was signed by eighty eight persons present, and ordered to be published in the Journal, SENTINEL, Staatz Zeitung and Freie Presse. Short addresses were then delivered by Col. C. A. Zollinger, M. V. B. Spencer, P. W. Schaden, S. C. Metcalf and others.

IS HE CHARLIE ROSS?

A Tramp Who Passes the Night at the Police Station Claims to be the Long Lost Philadelphia Boy.

"Can I get a place here to sleep tonight?" was the question put by a tramp, who entered the police station about 10 o'clock last night, to Chief Wilkinson who was sitting at his desk chatting pleasantly with THE SENTINEL reporter about the news events of the day.

"Well, that depends on circumstances," answered the captain. "If you have no other place to go and are without money we can let you sleep here. Who are you?"

IS THIS CHARLIE ROSS?

"My name, I guess," answered the man, "is John Raymond. I am trying to get to Philadelphia. I left the Pacific slope about two months ago, and having run out of money, I am now attempting to beat my way. I was put off a train here tonight, and being cold and hungry, came down onto the streets of your city to get something to eat and find a place of shelter for the night. I was told to come here by a man who gave me something to eat. He said you would allow me to sleep in the station over night. Please, sir, if you will let me do so, I will leave in the morning and not trouble you any more."

"Well, I think we can fix you," said the captain, and leaning over to THE SENTINEL reporter he whispered, "Here's a chance for a tramp article. Why don't you try to get his history?"

The newspaper man did not need a second hint. He immediately began to question the tramp about his past history. The fellow evaded the inquiries at first but finally told the story of his life, as far as he professed to know it, and it may be that the tramp who passed last night in our police station is none other than the long lost, long-looked-for Charley Ross, who a score of years ago so mysteriously disappeared from his home in Philadelphia.

Many of the readers of THE SENTINEL will remember the stealing of little Charley Ross from his parents, the excitement it caused all over the country, and how for months and years the father and his friends searched for the stolen child, tracking his abductors in many cities, but never able to secure their son again.

For months the newspapers teemed with columns about Charley Ross, and his name was a household word everywhere, uttered by more lips and written by more reporters' pencils than was that of Tascott, the Chicago murderer. Like Tascott, Charley Ross was first found in one part of the country and then in another, and, like Tascott, each story proved to be false, and today the disappearance of Charley Ross is as much a mystery as ever, unless it should happen that THE SENTINEL reporter has stumbled onto the lost boy in the person of the tramp whom he met last night. "I believe," said he, when pressed with the inquiry as to whether John Raymond was his real name, "that I am the identical Charlie Ross who was stolen from his parents in Philadelphia a score of years ago."

This remark made the reporter quicken his wits. Here was news, sure—a sensation in fact—and while pressing the tramp for the story of his life, he scanned his features and appearance closely. He was not a bad looking man—about five feet eight or nine inches high, dark complexion, dark brown hair, black eyes, dark mustache and a beard of several days' growth. He looked to be about twenty five years old and wore clothing much the worse for wear.

"My earliest indistinct recollections are of a great city," he said. "Then I remember of taking a long ride on the cars, of finding myself in another big city again, and of being compelled to beg on the streets by a rough man who claimed to be my father and who passed under the name of Mose Raymond. I was with him for several years at Nashville, Charleston, New Orleans and several other southern cities. He was brutal to me and one day I ran away from him and have never seen him since. I have worked at many things but tramp life seemed to be my nature and I drifted from one city to another and finally found myself on board a ship as a sailor, sailing for Brazil. I entered the army there and was in the revolution that drove Dom Pedro from the country, fighting on the side of the exiled emperor. I then commenced sailor life again and six months ago left my ship at San Francisco.

"In a saloon in that city one night I heard some men talking about the long lost Charlie Ross, and from their conversation I gathered the story of his abduction. The name 'Charlie Ross,' although I had never remembered of ever having heard it before, seemed familiar, and was like a boyhood dream. Their story revived recollections of my early life, and at last the conviction settled itself on my mind that I was the lost boy for whom the father searched so long. This thought became so strong that I determined to go to Philadelphia, and about two months ago I left San Francisco. I had but little money, and so I have been beating my way as best I could. This is my story, and you can do as you please about publishing it in your paper, for I shall be on my tramp again toward Philadelphia tomorrow."

This was the tramp's story. How much of truth or falsehood there is in it we leave our readers to judge. He is probably but one of the great army of lazy tramps who are going through the country living off the earnings of others and uses this story to get aid and sympathy. He has gone east, however, and will probably now work the police captains and the newspaper reporters of the Ohio towns on this Charlie Ross sensation.

PUSHING PLANS.

The New Church Which the Congregationalists' Purpose Building.

Rev. J. S. Ainslie, the pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, is vigorously pushing the arrangements for a new church. There will be meeting in the near future to decide about the plans for the building, as the ground will be broken preparatory to its erection in the spring. The building will be erected on the lot at the corner of West Jefferson and Harrison streets and will be one of the handsomest church edifices in the city. It will be of the latest style of architecture and it is hoped to have it ready for occupancy before next winter.

AT A DAY'S NOTICE.

Fort Wayne's State Militia is Prepared for Any Emergency.

Adjutant General Ruckle was seen last night and asked if the authorities at Washington had called on him for a report of the numerical strength and equipment of the state militia of Indiana relative to any possible demand for their assistance in case of actual warfare with Chili. Said the general: "I have received no such communication from the war department and I do not believe that the adjutant-general of any of the states has received any official correspondence from Washington of the character you name. I cannot conceive what basis there could be for such a story. Possibly it may have sprung from the dereliction of adjutant-generals in forwarding to the war department the returns which we are all required to make January 1, of every year, showing the strength and equipment of the national guard of our respective states. These reports may have been called for by special correspondence from the secretary of war, and the fact given exaggerated color by correspondents at Washington, distorted into sensational press dispatches. In addition to the January report to the adjutant-general at Washington, we also make a report to the officer who inspects the state troops in July at the camp of instruction. This last statement is intended to assist the officer in preparing his statistical report to the war department."

The adjutant-general was asked about the strength of Indiana's militia. "The Indiana legion is now up to its limit of forty-five companies of infantry and three of artillery, aggregating 2,500 men. They are thoroughly equipped, and if war is declared they could be put actively in the field at twenty-four hours' notice.

"Diseases, desperate grown, by desperate appliances are relieved, or not at all." The point of wisdom is to check them before they reach so far by buying a bottle of Salvation Oil. Price 25 cents.

"Conspiracies no sooner should be formed than executed," and a cold should no sooner be taken than a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup should be bought and used according to the directions.

WAR CLOUDS RISING.

SMALL DISPUTES THAT MAY CULMINATE IN BIG BATTLES.

There Is Trouble in Morocco, Uneasiness in Egypt and an Actual Revolution on the Mexican Border—A Review of the Situations.

For many a year people have been looking to eastern Europe and to France and Germany for the next war, when all of a sudden specks of war appear in three other places. There is a chance for war in Egypt, a serious disturbance in Morocco and some real fighting on the Rio Grande. The situations in Egypt and Morocco emphasize the fact that France and Great Britain are gradually drifting into their old relations of chronic hostility. The French conquered and annexed Algiers, and for several years past it has remained a contented province of the republic known as Algeria.

MULEY HASSAN, MOROCCO'S SULTAN.

The French thought it necessary to the security of their new possession to annex the oasis of Touat and its adjacent valleys, which have a population of some 200,000, but the people there claimed the protection of Morocco and there were "complications." All at once the people of the oasis and their wild neighborhood broke out in rebellion against Morocco and gained ground so rapidly that they threatened to capture Tangier. Great Britain at once notified the sultan of Morocco that her ships would take care of Tangier, and if necessary her marines would land and defend British interests there against the rebels. France declares that this is only a pretense to secure a foothold, and that as France was first in that part of Africa she must manage this Morocco business and annex the disputed territory.

The situation in Egypt is far more complicated. The French really constructed the Suez canal, but the British got control. The usual complications followed. There was a so called rebellion against Mohammed Tewfik, the khedive of Egypt, who favored the British, and so the latter bombarded Alexandria and established a protectorate. The war in the Soudan followed, all those opposed to the British protectorate being stigmatized as "rebels." It is not expected that American readers will try to understand the interminable complications, but two points must always be considered—Great Britain is now a great Mohammedan power and is determined to control the short route to India.

The old khedive has died of the grip and his son and successor, Abbas Pasha, who is but seventeen years old, was educated in Austria, doesn't like the English and does like the French. So France sees her opportunity to oust England. Mohammed Tewfik was still young—born Nov. 19, 1852—and was the most enlightened ruler Egypt has had in modern times. On the other hand, Muley Hassan, whom the French and English have had to deal with, as sultan of Morocco, is an old African despot of the blood and grease variety. Nothing but the jealousy of Europeans has caused them to allow such a tyrant in power. The English cannot permit the French to get possession of Tangier, just across the straits from Gibraltar.

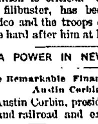

LIEUTENANT GEORGE TAYLOE LANGHORNE.

On the Rio Grande the situation is now more amusing than alarming, but there has been some real fighting; a few American soldiers have been killed and Lieutenant George Tayloe Langhorne of the Third cavalry was seriously wounded. His foot has been amputated and his condition is critical. Catarino Garza, the filibuster, has been driven into Mexico and the troops of that republic were hard after him at last accounts.

A POWER IN NEW ENGLAND.

The Remarkable Financial Successes of Austin Corbin's Life.

Austin Corbin, president of the Long Island railroad and ex-president of the Philadelphia and Reading, is now president of the New York and New England railroad. The late president, Jabez A. Bostwick, and Directors Sinclair, French and Nickerson have retired, and the new management consists of men determined to make the New England system "a progressive and controlling property." All this is the result of a "corner," a "deal" and a "whack up," as they say in Wall street, engineered chiefly by Charles Parsons, of 96 Broadway, who began buying New England stock in a very quiet way a year ago.

AUSTIN CORBIN.

Austin Corbin, who now has such large interests in the northeastern section of the United States, was born in New Hampshire sixty-four years ago, his father being a typical Yankee farmer of limited means. Austin obtained a common school education, studied law, completed his legal course at the Harvard law school, and after practicing a while in his native state located in Davenport, Ia., in 1851. There he organized a banking firm with Louis A. Macclot, and they succeeded in drawing millions of New England capital to Davenport and vicinity. Their business was so ably conducted that they went through the panic of 1857-8 in perfect safety, paying 100 cents on the dollar of every claim and attracting the capital drawn by the timid from other banks.

When the national bank act was passed Mr. Corbin at once applied for a charter, and on the 29th of June, 1863, the First National of Davenport was opened. His dealings soon made it necessary for him to take charge of the Indiana, Bloomington and Western railroad, and thus he became a railroad manager and located in New York. Mr. Corbin is a large and well preserved man and bids fair to be a railroad king for many years.

The Career of Jules Breton.

At the recent Seney art sale in New York city one picture was sold for $15,500. It was the "First Communion," the most celebrated of the numerous well known paintings of Jules Breton, the great artist. He lost his mother at an early age, and it was a source of wonder to him why God should have taken his devoted mother away. He began his art work in an attempt to copy the prints from a book which he had picked up somewhere. He also developed a very inconvenient fondness for decorating his room with crude charcoal copies. Finally his genius was recognized, and David, the great painter-hero, became his master. Thenceforth his career was rapidly upward.

There Is Always War.

People who predict war have the safest thing in the prophecy business, for there is always war in some part of the world, and it is very rare that ten years pass without a big war in some country. The Italian war of 1859, the American civil war and the Prusso-Austrian war of 1866 engrossed popular attention so thoroughly that many people did not know that the Tai-Ping war was in progress in China. It is still considered a small affair. Yet it cost 7,000,000 lives.

Intellectual Overwork.

"Trained too fine" is the verdict when a celebrated racer breaks down. Why isn't the same phrase applicable to the wreck of genius? The brain, worked to the limit to achieve dreams of conquest or fame, runs at lightning speed. An obstruction on the track causes a smash. The machinery goes to pieces and the ruin is irreparable. Are not these casualties of intellect the forced tributes of progress to the "avenging deities who fear that man may become as the gods in wisdom?"

A Matter of Experience.

There is a popular fallacy that the strongest timber is the heaviest. An old lumber man says that neither color nor weight has anything to do with the strength of a log. "Timber sense" is what he calls that faculty which will insensibly yet infallibly distinguish between the good and the bad. This can only be acquired, if at all, by long experience.

Electricity in Mining.

Electricity bids fair to revolutionize mining methods. It is particularly valuable on account of the facility and inexpensiveness with which it can be transmitted for use as a motive power from any distance. It is also being employed for ventilating, lighting, pumping and for almost every other purpose hitherto served by steam, being found less costly and dangerous, and infinitely more satisfactory.

The Best Authorities,

Such as Dr. Dio Lewis, Prof Gross, and others, agree that catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It therefore requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which effectually and permanently cures catarrh. Thousands praise it.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, jaundice, biliousness, sick headache, constipation and all troubles of the digestive organs.

Boys of sixteen years are sent to San Quentin state prison in California.

Scrofula

Is more especially than any other a hereditary disease, and for this simple reason: Arising from impure and insufficient blood, the disease locates itself in the lymphatics, which are composed of white tissues; there is a period of fœtal life when the whole body consists of white tissues, and therefore the unborn child is especially susceptible to this dreadful disease. But there is a potent remedy for scrofula, whether hereditary or acquired. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which expels every trace of the disease and gives to the blood the quality and color of health. Get Hood's.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Entirely Cured My Boy

"When my boy was two years old he was attacked and suffered a long time with scrofula sores. The physician at length told us to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla, which we did. Two bottles cured him. He is now 10 years old and has not had any sign of scrofula since. We recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all our friends." MRS. E. C. CLIFFER, 8 Kidder St., Cleveland, O.

Girls.

Thousands who are now in shops and other organized industries would really prefer work in homes, if only the heavy, grimy, unhealthy part of housework—washing and cleaning—were not required and expected of them.

Well, if this is true there's a good time coming for girls and the mistress too; for women (by millions) are coming to know, that Pearline saves the clothes on your back as well as the clothes in the wash; the paint on your walls—the sheen of silver—the lustre of glass and reduces the labor—drudgery—health breaking—temper and comfort wearing work of washing and cleaning to almost nothing.

Besides—the girl—the mistress—or both—are better satisfied with the results. It cleanses—restores original colors—but hurts nothing, not even delicate skin—luxurious for bathing—be among the bright ones and use Pearline.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as" Pearline. IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. JAMES PYLE, New York.

WHY IS THE

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN

THE BEST SHOE IN THE WORLD FOR THE MONEY?

It is a seamless shoe, with no tacks or wax thread to hurt the feet; made of the best fine calf, stylish and easy, and because we make more shoes of this grade than any other manufacturer, it equals hand-sewed shoes costing from $4.00 to $5.00.

$5.00 Genuine Hand-sewed, the finest calf shoe ever offered for $5.00; equals French imported shoes which cost from $8.00 to $12.00.

$4.00 Hand-Sewed Welt Shoe, fine calf, stylish, comfortable and durable. The best shoe ever offered at this price; same grade as custom-made shoes costing from $6.00 to $9.00.

$3.50 Police Shoe; Farmers, Railroad Men and Letter Carriers all wear them; fine calf, seamless, smooth inside, heavy three soles, extension edge. One pair will wear a year.

$2.50 fine calf; no better shoe ever offered at this price; one trial will convince those who want a shoe for comfort and service.

$2.25 and $2.00 Workingman's shoes are very strong and durable. Those who have given them a trial will wear no other make.

Boys' $2.00 and $1.75 school shoes are worn by the boys everywhere; they sell on their merits, as the increasing sales show.

Ladies $3.00 Hand-sewed shoe, best Dongola, very stylish; equals French imported shoes costing from $4.00 to $6.00.

Ladies' 2.50, $2.00 and $1.75 shoe for Misses are the best fine Dongola. Stylish and durable.

Caution.—See that W. L. Douglas' name and price are stamped on the bottom of each shoe.

CINDERS OF NEWS

Caught in the Meshes of The Sentinel's Sein and Arranged in Readable Form.

All passenger trains were late this morning.

G. H. Willcocks, painter in the Pittsburg shops, is sick.

Sherman Swinehart, of the electric light works, is quite ill.

George Mitchell, a fireman on the Pittsburg, has returned from a visit at Chicago.

John Niemann, machinist, in the Pittsburg shops, went home sick this morning.

Will Hosey and L. R. Bookwalter, machinists, have recovered from an attack of la grippe.

Peter Stetzer and John McCarty, of the riveting gang, Pittsburg shops, are laid up with the grip.

Joseph Hagenrather, an employe of Rhinesmith & Simonson, is confined to his bed with sickness.

Walter Leach, the Pittsburg boilermaker, has sickness in his family which keeps him from his work.

Fireman Will Fleming, of the Nickel Plate, who was disabled last week by an injured optic, is at work again.

The Bowser Oil Tank company is adding some new machiery to their works. The improvements will cost $4,000.

W. Hill, for some time employed in the Pittsburg planing mills, has taken a position as brakeman on the Pittsburg road.

Engineer John McFerrin resumed his run on the Nickel Plate yesterday, after a few days' absence on account of sickness in his family.

Mr. Hensel, a machinist, went to work in the Pittsburg shops this morning. He was formerly employed at the Fort Wayne Iron works.

Ed Dartnell's ears are swollen to an abnormal size this morning. They were badly frost bitten while on his way to the Pittsburg shops this morning.

Instead of running his train, Conductor McCormick, of the Nickel Plate, is putting in his time at home nursing some of the members of his family back to health.

The Pennsylvania's special California train passed through the city last evening, well filled with passengers. The company is now running the special every second Tuesday.

G. T. Boggs is now assistant treasurer and secretary of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, having been promoted from paymaster. W. A. Purdy is now the paymaster.

The Logansport Journal says that Boilermaker Wm. Myers has severed his connection with the Pan Handle company to go in to the grocery business at Fort Wayne, his old home.

Mr. R. Hardendorf returned to work in the Pittsburg blacksmith shops this morning, having recovered from a week's sickness. There are still twelve men in this department on the sick list.

The security holders of the Chesopeake and Ohio railroad have "gone back" on President Ingalls' proposed purchases of more southern roads and will oppose the issue of new stock and bonds.

Brakeman Greenfield, who had the misfortune to lose a limb in an accident at Green Springs, is still in the Bellevue hospital. A letter to a friend in this city, states that the young man is improving satisfactorily.

Samuel C. Stickney is at the head of an organization which proposes to extend and develop the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City road into a great system. He is now in New York trying to interest capitalists in the matter.

The diversion of grain traffic to New Orleans is going to affect the earnings of several east and west lines very materially. The past week there was a marked falling off in the shipments as shown by the weekly report sent out from Chicago.

Dr. J. M. Kells reports ninety cases of sickness among the Pennsylvania relief department's members, Dr. Cisna, of the Chicago district, has forty cases. January will be an expensive month for the company, who will probably be called upon to make up a deficit.

Dr. Talbott, medical examiner at Indianapolis for the Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief department, states that la grippe among the members of the association is decreasing, there being only thirty-four cases now, while last week there were eighty cases.

Trainmen are said to be able to distinguish every engine on their road by its whistle. The shrill, screaming whistle has given place to a hoarse, low toned one on passenger trains, on account of the former disturbing the slumbers of the rear brakeman.

The earnings of the Lake Erie and Western for the second week in January show an increase of over $15,000 over the corresponding period in 1890. There is not another road in the country with the same mileage that can show such a handsome increase in earnings.

The "Spider and Fly" theatrical company left over the Pittsburg this morning for Columbus, Ohio. They expended $200 in railway tickets with Agent Ross, from here to Columbus thence to Dayton, thence to Springfield and from the latter city back to Dayton. There is thirty-one people in the party.

A Wabash passenger train ran into a sleighing party at St. Louis last evening, killing eight men outright and injuring ten or twelve more, some of them probably fatally. The sleighing party was composed of members of the Clover Leaf club, who were out with a four-horse rig for a happy time. No blame is attached to the railway men.

Cy Piatt, the Pittsburg fireman, is in a critical condition and his chances of recovery are extremely doubtful. He is suffering with pneumonia in its worst form. The unfortunate young man is a member of Summit City lodge, No. 36, A. O. U. W., who will see that he has the best possible care during his illness. He lives on John's street.

Monday in New York occurred the death of W. F. Tuttel, superintendent of motive power for the New York, Lake Erie and Western road. Between the years 1880 and 1890 the deceased held the same position on the old Bee Line, making Indianapolis his headquarters. His remains were shipped to Cleveland where they will be buried tomorrow. He was fifty-eight years old.

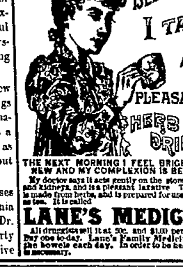

John Kelley, the east yard switchman, came down town yesterday, looking for the man who said cold weather would knock the grip "silly." When the cold wave struck this section Mr. Kelley began congratulating himself on his escape from the disease. A few days later, however, something knocked him "silly" for about a week and the doctor pronounced it la grippe. He is almost well and hopes to be able to return to work in a few days.

William Roach, the Pittsburg machinist, received injuries yesterday which will cause him to lay idle many weary days. He was assisting in rolling a pair of engine drive wheels down the tramway in the shops yesterday afternoon, when he slipped and one of his feet went under the wheels. Three of his toes were mashed flat. He was removed to his home, at 60 Baker street, where Dr. Stemen attended him. The accident happened at 1 o'clock.

As the weather increases in severity la grippe also increases. A. H. Polhamus' report this morning shows twenty-three engineers and twenty firemen sick with the disease. Mr. Polhamus said to a SENTINEL reporter this morning that the list would probably be increased later in the day, as there were a number of trainmen to hear from. In the planing mill department the sick list contained twenty four names. Other departments are not quite so badly crippled.

"All the railroads are running trains too fast," remarked a railway official yesterday, in commenting on the large number of accidents recently. "An express passenger train schedule at thirty miles an hour is fast enough for express service, and twenty five miles an hour for accommodation service then there will be times when the train, to keep on its schedule, will exceed that. A through train, running thirty miles an hour, day and night, will carry a person a distance which should satisfy him, and would were it not for some of the wild ideas general passenger agents get as to the speed of trains."

John Anderson, of the electric light works, has organized a company of volunteer infantry, which will enlist its services with Uncle Sam, in case of any unpleasantness with Chili. The members met Sunday evening and elected officers. John was unanimously elected captain, and Charles Gross, known in military circles as "General Crook," was elected first lieutenant. The names of the other officers are unobtainable at present. Every day, between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock, Captain Anderson, with a copy of Upton's military tactics in one hand and an ax handle in the other, can be seen parading his company up and down in front of the works, while from the windows in the upper stories of the building can be seen the pretty faces of dozens of maidens as they smile and cheer at the difficult manouvres and evolutions performed by the soldier boys. They are all eager for the fray and if war should be declared they will certainly cover themselves with glory in resenting the gross insults toward our grand and glorious government.

CHASE'S CLEAR FIELD.

Griffin Will Probably Take the Second Place—Michener Here.

(Indianapolis News.)

The early and vigorous canvass Governor Chase is making for a nomination by his party has practically scared everybody else out of the gubernatorial race. The leading politicians of the party are about ready to concede the nomination to Governor Chase. Between the politicians and the church people the governor is making a strong impression, and he isn't losing any time in getting his fences all in shape. He has left a rubber stamp with "Lieutenant Governor" Otto Pfafflin, which is used in signing the commissions of notaries public while the governor is out extending his already very wide acquaintance over the state. Sunday the governor was at Michigan City; yesterday he was at South Bend, and today he is at Lebanon. Unless he strikes a new lead that needs working he will be home tomorrow. The friends of Governor Chase are bringing a good deal of influence to bear to have ex-Secretary of State Chas. F. Griffin get out of the race for governor and run for lieutenant governor. It won't be surprising if the movement is successful. This done Governor Chase will have a clear field.

Outside of the governorship the only person who has announced himself as a candidate for place on the republican state ticket is F. J. Sholz, of Evansville, who is out for state treasurer. Mr. Sholz is a German, prominent in business circles in Evansville, and his friends believe he will make a strong race.

Ex-Attorney General Michener is expected to arrive in Indianapolis this evening to do some work for Harrison. Telegrams have been coming here for him since yesterday, but he has not yet shown himself. Both the Seventh and Fifth district conventions will be held here Thursday. Both will elect Harrison members of the committee.

Work will begin at once on Shelbyville's new electric railway.

La Grippe!

The tendency of this disease toward pneumonia is what makes it dangerous. La Grippe requires precisely the same treatment as a severe cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of severe colds. This remedy effectually counteracts the tendency of the disease to result in pneumonia, provided that proper care be taken to avoid exposure when recovering from the attack. Careful inquiry among the many thousands who have used this remedy during the epidemics of the past two years has failed to discover a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia. Twenty five cent, 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by all druggists.

For sale by druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, 25c a bottle. Jan 27-1yr.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

The Program at the Masonic Temple for the Next Week.

Among the young comedians who are rapidly growing in favor is Charles T. Ellis, the handsome young German singing comedian, who will appear at the Masonic Temple next Friday evening, when he will present for the last time here his pretty little domestic comedy drama, "Casper, the Yodler," which has been one of the greatest of successes.

That sterling American play, "Held by the Enemy," is announced for production at the Masonic Temple next Saturday evening. The piece has won a merited success throughout the country and claims the applause of all whether in the north or the south.

Walter Sanford's "My Jack" company will receive its initial presentation in this city next Monday night.

The Chicago Ideals will be here one week from tonight. The sale of seats opens next Monday.

A SAFE NOVEL.

[With Interpolated Notes by Our Own Legal Adviser.]

CHAPTER I.
THE LOVERS' PARTING.

The sun was setting behind the towers of the church of Greenborough-on the Driblet.

(It must be clearly and distinctly understood that this village is not intended to refer to any parish with the word "green" introduced in the title, all incumbents of such livings being the most honorable and distinguished of men.)

Two persons were bidding each other adieu. The first was a man in the prime of life wearing a suit of tweeds.

(Please note that the name of the tailor is not given, and it is not to be assumed for a single moment that this refers to any individual in particular.)

The girl, for she was only a girl, wore a costume of almost puritanical simplicity.

(Again no dressmaker is singled out for discussion. It is a purely fancy portrait.)

They were both in tears. For the hour had come for their parting.

(It is necessary to state that by "parting" no reference is made to any existing firm of hair dressers.)

For a moment they were silent, watching Phœbus as he descended in his glory of purple and gold.

(This refers to the mythical god of day, and is not to be confounded with a member of a well known firm of manufacturers of blacking.)

Then they spoke to each other.

"Zozimus," she murmured softly, "and is this our last meeting?"

(The name of Zozimus was selected for the hero because it is an uncommon one and consequently unlikely to be confounded with any more frequently used designation. If by an unlucky chance there is a Zozimus he is assured that the coincidence is purely accidental.)

"I am afraid it must be so, my Zuluwolfa," was the heartbroken response.

(Again the name has been chosen on the same lines as in the selection of Zozimus, and the explanation above given may be taken as having reference to both.)

"And so you are going across the sea in a boat?" she queried, trying to smile in spite of her blinding tears.

(No boat in particular is intended, and we have the author's authority for saying that he has the greatest respect for every official connected with the shipping interest.)

"Yes," he returned sadly, "it is my father's wish, and I trust that in a new world I shall find greater prosperity than I have been able to achieve in dear old England."

(No reference is made in the above to any weekly publications, although, perhaps, The World and England may have been taken as titles for Saturday journals. Before passing this passage we received the assurance of the author that he felt the deepest esteem for the editors of the periodicals thus inadvertently mentioned.)

"Well, my beloved, you will soon see me; and, dead or alive, I shall be by your side in the spirit."

(This passage is not intended to single out any particular firm of distillers.)

"We shall meet again," he cried, pressing her frail form to his breast. "Indeed we shall meet again."

(It must not be assumed that there has been a misprint in the above passage, and that reference is made to any particular firm of butchers.)

And so they parted!

(To be continued in our next, after consultation with our solicitor.)—Punch.

Coldest Weather of the Season—Some Interesting Accurate Figures.

Eighteen degrees below zero That's what the mercury registered between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning At 7 30 o'clock it registered sixteen degrees. It was the coldest weather we have had for some years and the common salute of people on the street last night and today was "Cold, ain't it?" or "Stiff this morning," or an expression conveying a similar meaning The effects of the cold were not so seriously felt because the air was still and it was so pure that columns of vapor were distinctly outlined, making it altogether a kind of weather that makes the blood tingle in one's veins Anent the subject of cold weather it might be interesting to quote some facts and figures For some years Martin Petzer, the South Calhoun street druggist, has been his own weather clerk, having kept a daily record of the various meteorological conditions The coldest weather this year, previous to that of last night and today, according to the records made from Petzer's tested thermometer, was eleven degrees below on the 10th inst at 5 o'clock in the morning It was six below on the 9th at 7 o'clock in the morning and that day was the coldest day, before today, in the present year, the mercury not reaching above zero degrees above all day on the 1st of January it was fifty degrees above zero at 7 a. m., identically the same as it was the same time in 1891 The coldest weather in November was ten above on the 18th, 29th and 30th, the warmest in November was on the 7th, when the mercury registered from forty six to sixty eight The coldest in December was twelve above on the 27th and the warmest in the same month was sixty-four above on the 22nd The only time that the mercury fell below zero during 1891 was on February 8th when it registered eight degrees The lowest temperature in January a year ago was eight above zero on the 3rd, and the warmest was 54 above on the 1st

MERCHANTS WILL MEET.

A Local Merchants' Mercantile Collecting Association To Be Formed.

For several weeks past C B McDonald, representing the Merchants' Mercantile agency, of Chicago, has been in the city soliciting subscribers for the organization of a local branch. He has been assisted by Charles Fitch. The number of firms and business men who have attached their names to the subscription paper to become members, reaches nearly one hundred, and a meeting is called to take place at the city hall tonight to perfect the organization. The system is understood to be a protective measure for the merchants so they cannot be imposed upon by irresponsible parties and so-called deadbeats.
